and greeted me warmly when I had finished my talk. I left the hall, and drove to the office of General Manager McCres, of the Pennsylvania lines. He promised to restore his men to their former positions.

"General Superintendent Clark telegraphed the situation to General Manager Miller, of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul, and I have received a telegram from Mr. Miller, stating that, in behalf of the interests of all concerned, he is willing and glad to do all in his power to end the struggle.

"The outcome is an evidence of the strong good sense of the workingmen."

Curcago, April 4—10 A. M.—When the appointed time came this morning for the cestation of the strike on the St. Paul, all lands—firemen, engineers and switchmen—presented themselves for duty, and the usual course of things as far as the Milwaukee and St. Paul Company is concerned was resumed at once.

Ft. Paul Company is concerned was resumed at once.

At the Fort Wayne yards there was a hitch and the strike on that road continued.

The engineers and firemen were ready to carry out the understanding, but the switchmen were obdurate.

At 9 A. M., however, everything was satisfactorily arranged, and the great Burlington boycott was apparently everywhere at an end.

Privilega, Abril 4.—Fifteen long freight trains are side tracked here, waiting to get to Chicago on the Pennsylvania lines.

Everything but perishable goods is being held, and unless the blockade is soon raised the road will have to refuse all western freight.

BENJ. H. BREWSTER DEAD.

United States District-Attorney-At Upright but Eccentric Man. PRESCRIPT TO THE WOMEN !

PHILADELPHIA, April 4.—Ex-Attorney-Genral Benjamin Harris Brewster died here this corning shortly after 1 o'clock of disease of he kidneys after an illness of three weeks.

Benjamin Harris Brewster was born in Salem County, N. J., Oct. 18, 1816. Graduating a Princeton in 1884, he was admitted in 1838 to the Philadelphia Bar, of which he has ever since been Philadelpnia Bar, of which he has ever since been an ornsment.

In 1846 Mr. Brewster was appointed by President Polk a Commissioner to examine into the claims of the Cherokee Indians against the United States. During the two years' term beginning in 1869, Mr. Brewster was Attorney-Greenel of the State of Pennsylvania. Here, as well as in his private practice in Philadelphia, he acquired a high reputation as an able and zeslous prosecutor, and in December, 1881. President Arthur spointed him to be Attorney-General of the United States.

In this distinguished office Mr. Brewster served until 1885, during the whole period of the State Route prosecutions, through which he became known all over the United States.

Mr. Brewster went into those celebrated cases with much energy and declared his disappointment at their termination without a vindication of justice.

lives, however, in his private life that this remarkable man ws most notable. In costume, habit and personal app-grance he was alike peculiar. But it is to be said that there was never a breath against his honor, and that he deserved the success he achieved under many obstacles at a bar famous for "Pulladelp-lia lawyers."

When a mere child Mr. Brewster was dropped into an open fireplace by the carelessness of his nurse and received facial injuries of which he bore the marks until his death, and which gave him the soubriquet of "Burnt Brewster."

He was devoted to his mother, and to ber constant encouragement he ascribed the perseverance with which he fought his way up in the world and atrove to overcome the disadvantages under which his remarkable disfigurement placed him.

Mr. Br. wster was a social as well as professional leader in Philadelphia. His second wife died several years ago and left him one son, a handsome lad, who has since been constantly seen in his father's company and for whom the ex-Attorney-General felt a pathetic affection.

Mrs. Brewster was a daughter of ex-Secretary of the Treasury Walker, of Masissirpi, but when she married Mr. Brewster she was a cierk in one of the Washington departments, from which position she stepped to the high social one of the wife of a cabinet officer.

Mr. Brewster wore until his death the style of nigh white beaver hat in vogue in the year 1840, and had his head coverings made to order from a special block. Ruffled shirt-bosoms and waistbands, with lace frilling, after the gallant old fashions of a century ago, he also affected, together with a luxuriance in waistcoats that made him a marked figure on the streets of any city. He shaved amself closely every day, and entertained strict ideas of what a gentleman should do, say, eat, crink and wear.

At midnight last night the walls of the Emanuel deformed Episcopal Church, on Summit avenue, Jersey City, resounded with cheers, announcin the victory of Rector Windeyer's party in the election for Warden and vestrymen by a vote of 29 to 28. During the progress of the voting the church

28. During the progress of the voting the church was the scene of continuous uproar.

The Ray, Mason Gallagher, of Brooklyn, stood in front of the hat which served as a ballot-box and put to each voter a series of questions touching his eligitility. A number of women stood unon the seats and listened attentively to the answers which were liven to Mr. Gallagner's questions. They evidently knew each individual of the opposition, and several times proclaimed loudly that the would-be voter was a liar.

Vestryman De Freites, one of the leaders of the opposition, came of r a large share of abuse from the women, who call d him an old fool and requested him to seep quiet.

PITTMAN'S MENTAL BALANCE.

DR. RANNEY GIVES EXPERT TESTIMONY IN THE MURDER TRIAL.

The Mental Condition of Pittman's Father Does Not Necessarily Prove Insunity is the Son-A Man May Be Insuse One Day and Nane the Next-Rebecca Fronm

Like an avenging spirit Rebecca Fream sat with note-book in hand in the ladies' box at the trial of Francis W. Pittman again to-day. The man who claims to have killed his daughter while temporarily nsane, made so by his anxiety concerning her friendship with a married man, gave the impression yesterday that he was of a emperament similar to that of the spinster. Dr. J. W. Ranney, who was called to the witness-stand as a specialist and expert in insanity cases, swore that the fact that Pitt. man's father died insane would induce him o the belief that actions of the son not normal were insane acts. That the father had had charge of a ship That the father had had charge of a ship vovaging between America and Europe would modify that belief to a certain extent. On cross-examination by Mr. Fitzgerald, Dr. Ranney said that moral insanity was a derangement of the emotions and feelings, without affecting the mental faculties. In moral insanity the intellect is unable to control the moral faculty. He cited Modgely and Pritchard in support of this statement. Dr. Ranney had never heard of any one who became insane because of fear of hydrophobia, but had known cases in which one was sane one day and insana the next. The habit of biting and clipping off words in his speech were not symptoms of insanity in Pittman. Loss of memory of recent events is not a symptom of dementia, but of acute insanity.

To Recorder Smyth Dr. Ranney said that a man might be worried and insomnolent; he might walk the house at night and be unable to eat anything for days together and unable to eat anything for days together and yet be perfectly sane.

"Now, you don't mean to testify, even as a matter of opinion, that on Aug. 4 last this prisoner was in such a condition of mind that he was unable to determine right from wrong, do you?" asked the Recorder.

Dr. Ranney replied to this that Pitman's mind might have been competent.

Then to Mr. Ecclesine the doctor said that the strain on Pittman's mind as predicated.

the strain on Pittman's mind, as predicated in the testimony, might produce insanty in some temperaments, and to Mr. Fitzgerald acknowledged that there were no such cases in the book—adding that such cases were classified under the head of "foor." "fear."
Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton testified that in his opinion Pittman was and always had

Mrs. Miner informed an Evenino World reporter this morning that if the mother did not return soon and no wet-nurse replied to the advertisement, she feared the babes would starve. Four kinds of nursing bottles had been tried, but the crying little ones could not work them. Various preparations of baby food they did not relish, and life had been kept in their little bodies by the use of condensed milk, fed with a silver teaspoon. Wiggles darted out between Mr. Miner's legs when he opened the door to a caller yesterday morning, and has not been seen since. Great, hannsome Pop and his consort Flo, the prize St. Bernards, lifted their wondering eyes in sympathetic sadness as they gazed into the face of their mistress, and then at the whining orphans, and Peanuts and Beauty Queen, the tan-terriers, were also deeply interested in the motherless amily. If Wiggles doesn't return by to-night Mr. Miner does not know what will happen.

The Sweetest Giri in School. The Sweetest fire in School.

"She's the sweetest girt in a hool!" enthrainstically exclaimed one young miss to another as they passed down the street together. "Builth is so kind and genile and unselfish every one likes her. And she has lovely golden bair and pretty eyes. Isn't it a pity her complexion is so bad? If spolis her looks. And then such as such dreadful headaches!" The girls skipped along, but it happened Edith's mother had heard what they said, it set her thinking. What could be done for those headaches and the rough, muddy complexion that were such a trial to her gentle danghier? She recalled what she nad read of Dr. Pience's Golden Medical Discovery, and on the spur of the moment are slipped into a drug store and bought a supply. Edith took it faithfully, with the result that it cleared her disordered blood, relieved the headaches, made her skin soft, fair and root, and now she is not only "the awestest girl in school"
but the most beautiful. "."

Thrilling Spectacle at a Bull Fight in Mexico.

Eighteen Lives Lost in a Fire Panic at Celaya.

Many Women and Children Leap Distance of 200 and 300 Feet and Over a Hundred of Them were Seriously Hurt-Ten of the Number Will Probably Die-Redies Burned So Badly as to be Unrecognizable-Maddened Bulls Rush Through the Terrorized Mass of Humanity.

CITY OF MEXICO, April 4. - The Two Repub tos has this telegram dated Celava at 5 p. M. yesterday :

Sunday afternoon at about 4.45 o'clock the bull ring was crowded with spectators of the great national sport.

The company of bull-fighters from Leon was still playing with the first bull when a fire suddenly broke out on the sunny side of the plaza.

A panic seized upon the vast assemblage and a frightful spectacle was the result. The plaza was constructed of wooden masts, reeds, etc., and it was due to this fact that a majority of the people escaped without injury, being able to force an opening permitting an exit at different points. But many women and children jumped from the top, a distance of 200 to 300 feet and over a hundred of them were seriously wounded.

Eighteen lives were lost. The sides of the plaza being lined with natting as dry as tinder, and there being a alight wind blowing, the amphitheatre was in blaze in a few seconds. Nine dead bodies, in some cases so charred aken from the smoking ruins. Nine persons were so badly burned that they died yesterday. This makes eighteen deaths in all up to to-humanity, tossing aloft and knocking over all who stood in their way.

Among the eighteen dead were two women who were gored to death by the bulls and their bodies afterwards burned.

Several persons lost their reason from the severe mental shocks to which they were subjected.

subjected.

The fire was incendiary.

In the Celaya Jail were a number of prisoners—army deserters, &c.—who had obtained permission from the authorities to atten! the bull-fight. They were accompanied by a guard of soldiers to prevent their escape, but one of the deserters struck a match and lighted one of the dry mats, and in an instant the suony side of the ring was ablaze.

In the confusion and excitement the prisoners succeeded in making good their escape, taking their chances to effect their end.

The best society of Celaya was in attendance. It was Easter Sunday, the return of the season of gayety after Lent, and there was an unusually large number of ladies and children present, and these, as often is the case in such events, were the sufferers.

No man lost his life.

It is the saddest tragedy that has ever occurred in the three centuries of this city's history.
